Are you looking for peace, adventure, nature? Wieprza is a route for you. It is little known, wild and sparsely developed. It lacks the big camping sites, tourist crowds and loud music. Instead there are vast forests, especially in the upper and middle section. On the way you can meet only ducks, cranes, swans, otters, deer, badgers and many other wild animals. Wieprza and its tributary - Pokrzywna constitute a very attractive canoe route. It is quite easy and wide, only the upper section has a somewhat stone rapids and obstacles in the form of trees embedded in the mainstream. However, even novices, under the care of a few more experienced kayakers, will cope with this river.

An additional attraction is the historic hydroelectric power stations, including one of the most beautiful stations in Pomerania in Biesowice. A cycling trip to Warcin - the historic village, located in the middle reaches of Wieprza, or a trip to the tributary - wild Studnica (for this trip single kayaks are recommended and for those who are inexperienced - hiring an instructor) are diversification of original route.

Lower Wieprza (from the vicinity of Pomiłowo) runs quietly meandering through meadows and ends its run in Darłówek. An additional attraction is the opportunity to sail (weather permitting) on the sea and land on the beach of the resort. You can finish the trip in the port too.
